Stanley stands like the Rock of Gibraltar against every species of imperialism and special privilege.

Rev. H. B. Hewlett for Circuit Clerk of Lawrence county should be especially remembered by the voters next Tuesday.

Judge Redwine wants to be elected to the bench one time. He has served by appointment two short terms, but never by election.

For the higher education of Masonic orphans a trust fund of $150,000 was created yesterday by the Kentucky Grand Lodge of Masons.

Indorsements of the Administration's plan to create a great continental army for defense are beginning to reach Washington from employing firms and corporations.

Five thousand voters of Breathitt and adjoining counties Friday gathered in Jackson to welcome and hear the address of A. O. Stanley, Democratic nominee for Governor.

A State campaign against the trading stamp, the floating debtor, mail order houses and adverse legislation was started by the Louisville House Furnishers' Association.

Remember that a man who will buck up against organized trusts in defense of the honest handed sons of toil is a worthy leader. And that is what Stanley has had the courage to do.

Now that the thunderous tones of the mountains have acclaimed their allegiance to the cause of Mr. Crowley Stanley and democracy, let the rest of the state acquiesce in the same way.

A German woman in Saran, Scotland, has been sent to prison for nine months for offering to marry a Russian prisoner of war.

She should have waited until 1916.

Should the race be close every Democrat in the State will regret it. We have the votes. Let's cast them. Let no Democrat be compelled to say to himself on the morning of November 2nd, "I wish I had gone to the polls."

President Wilson has written a letter to Senator James declining his interest in the election of Mr. Stanley as Governor of Kentucky and urging Democrats to rally to his support.

Every Democrat is proud of President Wilson, whose achievements will go down in history as the greatest on record. Indorse him by going to the polls next Tuesday and stamping under the rooster.

All the gold of Ophir cannot stop Crowley Stanley from his onward march towards the governorship. He has set the mountains ablaze with enthusiasm, and never before was there a democrat who was received with such homage and delight. Thousands of voters who have heretofore affiliated with the republicans are coming to his assistance.

John M. Waugh is a native of Lawrence county. He has attained his prominent standing entirely by his own efforts and ability. Let Lawrence county roll up a big majority for him next Tuesday.

If Kentucky goes Democratic by a good majority this year it will be a handsome boost for the National campaign next year and will encourage Democrats all over the country. Let's not disappoint our national leaders—Frankfort State Journal.

President Wilson's watchful waiting policy in Mexico has resulted in the best possible way for the United States. He invited the South American nations to join in conferences on the grave situation and definite action followed that makes it unnecessary for us to go to war.

Every vote cast for Stanley means one more mile of good road. Every mile of good road means six more children at school. Every child at school means a better salary earner and more money circulating in Kentucky. How are you going to vote?

The elimination of the liquor question from the campaign has made it possible for the Democrats to present a united front in Kentucky this year. Both parties have the same platform on this question and are pledged to leave the laws alone as they now stand.

Mexico again has a government that is recognized by the other countries of the world. Carranza is the head of the accredited government. Revolution is still abroad in Mexico, but Carranza is in much better position now to quell these uprisings than heretofore.

Charges of political preferment on the part of Ben Marshall and Josh T. Griffith, internal revenue collectors of Kentucky, in the matter of assignments of revenue men, preferred by Congressman J. W. Langley, Republican, have been dismissed by the Civil Service Commission as without foundation.

State Treasurer Tom Rhea of Kentucky refuted Republican claims that interest on State deposits under the Wilson administration was greater than during the Democratic regime by pointing out that the daily balances were not figured, which would give the Democratic figures $44,341 against $39,319, a reversal of the facts.

Business is excellent all over the country. Railroads are so busy they can scarcely take care of the demands. Mills are running night and day and all labor that wants employment has it at good wages. Mines are active. Merchants are beginning to get the benefits which come to them a little behind the boom in other lines. The new currency laws have satisfied panics and the people have cause to rejoice.

The Democrats of Kentucky must stand shoulder to shoulder against the common enemy. They should forget the disappointments that came to some of them in the primary. Last year, after Beckham beat him in the primary for the nomination for the United States Senate, Stanley got behind Beckham and stamped the state from one end to the other in Beckham's behalf. The men who supported McChesney and McDermott in the primary are following the example set by Stanley and showing that, in spite of differences within the party, all Kentucky Democrats stand together after their nominations are made.

"Prospects are unusually bright for a Democratic landslide in Kentucky," said Gov. McCreary. "I have been over the State a good deal, and men who have come to my office at Frankfort have brought me glowing reports of the political outlook. The Democratic party in the State has been, and is being, well organized, and the Democratic State Campaign Committee has done work of inestimable value in perfecting a party organization."

Gov. McCreary, who will be a member of the party that will make the "swing around the circle" on the Democratic campaign special train, will deliver his closing speech of the campaign at Richmond—his home town—Monday.

PARAGRAPHS FROM McDERMOTT'S CONVENTION SPEECH.

All concede that the gentleman you have nominated is a man of great ability, that all the walks of life in which he has been thrown, he has rendered splendid services.

In congress, he attracted attention. In his race for United States Senator he displayed great power as a popular orator, and also gathered around him a circle of ardent and enthusiastic friends who made this race easy for him.

He is well fitted, indeed, to lead in this campaign in the coming fall, and I have no doubt of his election. I wish to say on behalf of the democratic organization of Louisville that we will give him our cordial support.

PARAGRAPHS FROM STANLEY'S SPEECHES.

"I unthought the ground wire that connected the Senate of the United States with the Fifth Ave. New York, between the desk of Nelson A. Aldrich and the home of the trusts."

"I had spread upon the record of Congress the checks and vouchers, the indisputable proof of their sinister aims."

"Will the intelligent citizenship of Kentucky entrust a party with power that knows nothing of inviolable government, or knowing is too timid or corrupt to give you its solemn pledge to destroy it?"

"If elected Governor of Kentucky I solemnly and earnestly pledge the people of the Commonwealth here and now that I will turn the election light upon the lobbyist and upon all who seek to procure positions of honor or privilege by any secret or squalid alliance with him."

"The keynote of the ideals of Government that have moved A. O. Stanley during his public career were voiced in a few words by Stanley himself in an extemporaneous speech he delivered at the state fair in Louisville on September 16th. The gubernatorial candidate was speaking of good roads and during the course of his speech said:

"What has preserved this government for 150 years or more? I will tell you: The plain citizen seated in a cane bottom chair on a rug carpet, before an open fire place, with a Bible on his knees and his family grouped about him, his head bowed, simply and reverently asking God to guide him through the night, and arising in the fear of that same God at dawn, to take up the simple tasks of the day, its votes with no thought of profit to himself, but for the good of his family and the honor of his country and the glory of his God. This is the power upon which this republic rests, and must forever rest."

ParagrapHS From McChesney.

May I recall something that happened about the 5th of August in Anderson county. I was making a speech and smiling. I indulged in the statement that the smile would not come off, and some one way back in the audience yelled, "We will take it off tomorrow." But he didn't know how good a democrat I am.

This is the first time I ever saw a platform offered that there was not a fight on. It is the first time I ever saw three reports, one after another, adopted without a dissenting voice.

It ought to make every democrat in Kentucky happy and I am sure it does. What does all this enthusiasm mean? It means victory in November.

We have differed. Some of us believed one way and conscientiously, I am sure there is not a democrat in Kentucky that doubts but that I followed the dictates of my conscience in the position I took, but above all questionable doctrine that the majority has the right to rule. The majority has spoken and I cheerfully submit to the will of the majority.

When you go to vote on November 2nd remember the two amendments to the constitution. They read as follows:

Constitutional Amendment No. 1.

Are you in favor of the proposed Constitutional Amendment which will allow the use and employment of convict labor outside of the walls of the penitentiary for the purpose of constructing or reconstructing and maintaining public roads and bridges and preparing material for public roads and bridges, and work on the State farm or farms?

Constitutional Amendment No. 2.

Are you in favor of the proposed Constitutional Amendment to Section 171 of the Constitution of Kentucky, which proposed amendment will extend the power to the General Assembly to enact laws to divide property into classes for the purpose of taxation and to determine what class or classes of property shall be subject to local taxation, and to exempt from taxation bonds of the State and of Counties, municipalities, and taxing and school districts, and which amendment provides that laws passed pursuant to said amendment shall be subject to the referendum power of the people?

The penitentiary at Frankfort makes a profit of $10,000 to $20,000 per year, above expenses and improvements. The Eddyville penitentiary shows a loss of $10,000 to $20,000 per year, because it has capacity for only half the number of convicts, and the expenses of operation are necessarily larger in proportion to the earning capacity in the Frankfort prison. The two penitentiaries combined are each year paying a surplus into the State treasury.

The Houses of Reform near Lexington have the care of nearly 500 boys and girls, both white and colored. The cost of maintaining this institution, with its close supervision, its schools and industrial training is necessarily a considerable sum. Various trades are taught there and the boys and girls are now turning out practical products that are being sold for a considerable total each month. This is incidental, however, as the object of the reform school is to reclaim the State's worst children. No one expects it to be a money-making enterprise, or anything except an expense to the State, like the insane asylums and the feeble minded institute. It is one of the most important institutions of the State and is doing good work.

This statement is made here to illustrate the inaccuracy of Mr. Morrow's campaign speeches. He takes the total cost of running the reform school, and of making the necessary improvements and adding to buildings and equipments, and includes this with the penitentiaries in order to claim that the prisons of Kentucky are being run at a financial loss.

The reform school should not be classed as a prison. The several buildings are scattered over a 200-acre tract of beautiful blue grass land, six miles from Lexington. Not even a fence surrounds the front of the grounds. In no particular has it the appearance of a jail or prison. Schools are conducted all the year, teaching the common school branches. Shops are maintained covering the trades of machinist, blacksmith, foundryman, carpenter, cabinet maker, shoe maker, tailor, printer, plumber, broom makers, harness maker, laundryman, painting, farming, etc., etc., etc.

The girls are taught all the things and raised in a modern domestic science course.

Does Mr. Morrow think he would make money for the State with the reform school? Does he conceive this to be the state of the authorities in charge of the unfortunate children who are growing up under such unfavorable environments that it becomes necessary for the State to try to reform them by good citizenship? No, Mr. Morrow does not believe this. He is simply juggling facts and figures for political effect. The voters must make allowance for this policy all the way through his speeches.

EXTRACTS FROM SENATOR BECKHAM'S SPEECH.

Falmouth, Oct. 15.—"Let's elect the Democratic ticket that was nominated and keep Kentucky in control of the Democratic party."

"Will the Republicans fool the people again? Why try the same Doctor when he has killed three patients?" "I am a Democrat and in the Democratic party the majority rules, therefore I am for the whole ticket."

"It is our duty to send to Woodrow Wilson a message of encouragement. Let us encourage him by a big Democratic majority in Kentucky on November 2nd."

GREAT GAINS IN BIG SANDY.

Edgar H. Phipps and W. C. Womack, both prominent Democrats of Grayson, Carter-co. were visitors in Louisville yesterday. Mr. Phipps, who is a traveling salesman, covers the Big Sandy country, said that the Democrats would make unprecedented gains in that section of the State. He said he knew of many Republicans who would vote for Stanley and the rest of the Democratic ticket in the interest of the development of Eastern Kentucky. Mr. Womack said he had found the same truth wherever he had gone: Louisville Times.

BUYING REGISTERED CATTLE.

Caldwellburg, Ky., Oct. 25, 1915. I am with a few Lawrence county farmers on our way to purchase some registered Shorthorns at the auction sale of Mr. T. J. Bigstaff, of Mt. Sterling. Several farmers expect to go on a purchasing trip later in the season. I have organized three farmers clubs and the members are taking active interest in the feeding as well as the breeding of live stock. In the half dozen schools I have just visited I found several boys anxious to take up Pig Club Work. A little later we will have a very pleasant announcement for the boys interested in pure bred pigs at a reduced price.

On last Wednesday I had the fortune or misfortune to treat three sick animals that were not in the county when I arrived, two registered Shorthorns and one registered Hereford. We are always glad to have any irregularity on the farm or in the barn yard reported promptly.

On my way in from Webbville I learned of an outbreak of blackleg in cattle near Deephole. This disease is becoming more widespread every month and farmers should be using the precaution of vaccinating their cattle.

Yours truly,
E. S. KEGLEY, Co. Agent.

DON'T WAIT.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF A LOUISA CITIZEN'S EXPERIENCE.

When the back begins to ache, Don't wait, until backache becomes chronic.
Till kidney troubles develop, Till urinary troubles destroy night's rest.

Profit by a Louisa woman's experience.

Mrs. Sarah Fier, Louisa, says: "My back ached and I could hardly endure the dull, heavy pains. I was weak and tired and had no ambition. I had nervous headaches and dizzy spells and was annoyed by the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills procured at the Louisa Drug Store, regulated the kidney action and rid me of the suffering." (Statement given June 22nd, 1909.)

OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mrs. Fier said: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills made has been permanent. All I said when I recommended them before, still holds good."

MORGAN COUNTY.

Elkhorn, Morgan co., Ky., 10/25/15.

Editor Big Sandy News:

As far as we are concerned there is no going to be any reduction in the Democratic majority usually given in Morgan county. On the 23rd of this month our distinguished Congressman, Hon. W. J. Fields, made an eloquent speech in behalf of the Democratic party. Mr. Fields is an able speaker. He brought the great questions that have come before President Wilson and how the President handled the great work. Mr. Fields made this so plain as to deeply impress every one that heard him. I am 72 years of age. Was a soldier in the Civil War. I rode horseback over the mountains 3 miles to hear Mr. Fields. As I have many friends in Lawrence, Carter, Elliott and Martin counties that will read this letter I want to call their attention, as this might be my last opportunity for us all to stay in line, to hold the Hon. W. J. Fields in Congress as long as he works for the common people the way he has been working. He has stood like a stone wall for the common people. Good bye friends.

HENRY M. HUTCHISON.
